THE CROCODILE'S ORIGIN

The story of the "Crocodile" began with a wager René Lacoste made with the Captain of the French Davis Cup Team who promised René that he would give him an alligator-skin suitcase if René won a very important match. Even though he lost his match, René was nicknamed "the Crocodile" by the American press because of his tenacity on the tennis courts.

Today, the Crocodile emblem symbolizes the elegance of tennis champion René Lacoste in everyday life, on and off the courts, in more than 110 countries.

A LIFESTYLE BRAND

The LACOSTE legend was born in 1933, when the tennis champion René Lacoste revolutionized men's fashion, creating what has now become the iconic LACOSTE L.12.12 polo shirt.

More than 75 years after its inception, LACOSTE has grown into a "lifestyle" brand – one which remains faithful to its sporting roots and core values of authenticity and elegance, while offering a range of apparel and fashion accessories.

THE LACOSTE WATCHES

The LACOSTE Watch Collection reflects the brand's design identity, combining a large colour palette drawn from the famous L.12.12 polo shirt, with clean and beautiful shapes, playful and graphical patterns, remarkable finishes – and the unique, signature crocodile logo, one of the most recognized fashion symbols in the world.

Renowned for their quality and style, LACOSTE watches are made by Movado Group Inc., one of the world premier's watchmakers. They convey an unrivaled heritage in the sports fashionmarket.

Designed for everyday wear, LACOSTE watches for men and women are imbued with a timeless yet contemporary flair inspired by their authentic sports roots and the well-known elegance of brand founder René Lacoste.
